WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The third annual meeting of the American Jewish Historical Society begun here today at the Arilington Hotel, with a larger attendance than usual. Hen. Oscar C. Strauss, the president, delivered an address of welcome.

The society, he said, had enjoyed a general and healthy growth, and, year by year, the papers read at the annual meetings reveated new data, and the channels of investigation ran deeper into the history of the early settlement of the con-tinent. The president spoke particularly of the immigration of Jews to America spite of the stringent laws which exist in 1577 against such immigration, and which were only removed then by the payment of $1,000,000 by the Jews in the American colony.

"I have every belief," said Strauss a much larger immigation to America and the contiguous islands than history has taken note of. The closing chapters of the history of the Jews in Spain and Port-ugal are the opening chapters of their history on this continent, and closely con-nected with the early settlement in North

Lord Osborne, who left the Churchill residence just before this dispatch was sent, said that the condition of the sick man was so bad that it could hardly be worse. Dr. Keith, one of the physicians in tendance on Lord Randolph, informed the Associated Press at 10 o'clock that his death is merely a question of a short time. A sad feature was that every effort made in behalf of the patient only 'ended to prolong such agony as he is now empable of feeling.

THE CURRENCY BILL.

It is Thought the Republicans Will Vote Against It. ted Press Leased-wire Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.-Among the few members of the House who were at the Capitol today the prevailing opinion their power to pass or defeat the Cur-rency Bill. The Democratic vote, it is said by one who has fully canvassed the situation, will be about evently divided The Republicans are generally expected to to many of the Democratic members, who will support it, they will, they say, vote for it because it will improve, in their opinion, the present situation. Judge Culberson puts it in this way: "We are like a tramp," said he, "who has been ordered out of town. It doesn't matter whether he goes to New York, Baltimore or Richmond. but move he must. The situation of the treasury is identical. Something must be done to relieve it. If this bill does not accomplish all it should it will at least mplish something."

Representative Bland, who has a freecoinage substitute pending, is very doubtful of his ability to secure even a record-making vote upon it.

Chairman Springer has already given notice that he will make a point of order against the substitute on the ground that it is not germane, and Mr. Bland believes that it was the programme of the advocates of the currency bill to rule that this substitute, dealing as it does, not only with coinage, but with the currency, is ger-mane. He seems inclined to the opinion that the point of order will be sustained. In the event it is sustained, however, he says, inasmuch as the substitute will be defeated in committee of the whole, that the fact will preclude the possibility of securing a record-making vote on this proposition in the House.

He Denounces Capt. Schmittberger, Who Exposed Him, as a Liar.

Ex-Wardman Shelby Gives Som Figures as to Amounts Collected from Various Illegal Resorts-Capt. Martens.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.-Next to Super atendent Byrnes, Inspector Williams is looked upon by the residents of this city as the man who knows every detail in connection with the police department of New York. It was made known that he would be called up as a witness before the Lexow Committee today, and there were numerous applicants for admission to the courtroom. Lawyers, doctors, bankers, prokers and men about town scrambled for seats to hear the famous "Knight of the Club" and Inquisitor Goff cross foils in a wordy fencing-match

During the early part of the proceedings, former Wardman Shalvey, who was Policeman Hassey's partner in the Twelfth Pre his collections of bribe-money from sa ame and policy shops. He accused Capt. Webb (retired,) Doherty, Eakins and Schultze of receiving the bribes. During Schultze's regime he had the price of policy shops raised 5 per cent., and, in nine months, he paid over to Schultze about $3500.

Detective Sergeants Phil Reilly and Jake Von Grischted were called after recess, and said that they attended the races at Saratoga during their vacations, and that they received money from the owners of the track for "keeping crooked persons" away from it, but he denied ever having divided the money they got with police officials in New York.

every one was on tip-toe of excitement He was dressed in full uniform, and seemed to be as unconcerned as if he were going to testify against an ordinary "drunk and disorderly," In reply to Goff he said that he learned the trade of ship carpenter, and, previous to 1866, when he joined the force, he had charge of shipyards in China and Japan. When he left there he was worth from $15,000 to $20,000 nd had property in Japan.

He accounted for his transactions in real estate, and swore positively that he was never, directly or indirectly, connected with the sale of Hollywood whisky. The inspector had frequently been accused of having an interest in the company which handled this brand of liquor, and it was stated that, by displaying the company's sign in a prominent place, the pro prietors of saloons were protected from arrest or annoyance for violation of the excise law. Williams denquired Schmittberger as liar and said that he was prompted by a promise of immunity given him by the committee. He met Goff's attacks stubbornly and frequently aroused merriment by his answers to several questions.

After seventy minutes of fencing Goff asked for an adjournment until tomorrow morning, and the majority of the specta-tors said that Williams was the "toughest" that the investigator had met as yet. It is expected that the examination of the inspector will occupy the whole of tomorrow's session. When Chairman Lexow tapped his gavel

Goff started off by reading two letters by Commissioner Sheehan to Schmittberger in reference to Proctor, the alleged gambler and friend of the commis-sioner. He first asked the captain to exercise his influence to have a man named Morris Murray appointed as a conductor on the Broadway cable road. The sec made a similar request for Charles Bates on the Eighth-avenue surface road. Goff also produced a letter making a similar request on behalf of William Schaeffer. Goff then read a letter received by Assistant Counsel Moss from Commi per interview with Moss, in which the latter had a good word to say for the com missioner and for this Sheehan thanked him. The letter concluded: "At the time when there appears to be a general determination to ruin and destroy me, even kind word is to be appreciated.'

"Capt. Eakins. He remained in the station about eighteen months. I made the usual monthly collections during his captainty."

"Did he express any surprise when you handed him the money?" asked Chairman

"Not the slightest," responded the wit-At this point Dr. Parkhurst entered the

His Holiness replied in terms of great affection, and praised the progress, activity and liberty of the United States. The audience lasted half an hour, and at its conclusion all the officers went to Cardinal Rampolla, papal officer of state, and presented their compliments. Later the officers dined at the American College. The hall was decorated with the Stars and Stripes. Among those present were United States Ambassador Wayne MacVeagh, H. JAMESTOWN (N. Y.,) Dec. 26;—The arrest of George W. Depew on suspicion of being the murderer of Mrs. Winslow Shearman and her daughter, Mrs. Clinton, has caused great excitement here. One or two persons who saw him say that his appearance corresponds with the description of the image of the man seen in Mrs. Shearman's eye as if standing in a stooping position.

The discussion over the possibility of identifying the murderer by an image left on the retina of the eye has been revived with interest here. It is said the image was blurred by the removal of the eye from the socket. Those removing it remember the image so well, they say, that they could identify the man from the general outline. Before the removal of the eye the image was sharply defined. Even the wrinkles in the clothes were plainly seen by the aid of the microscope.

Bull are Being Fooled.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—A special dispatch to the World from Kingaton, Jamaica, says that some very misleading statements have been made in New York regarding the situation at Mosquito. Perhaps the most serious of these is that concerning the reincorporation of the reservation with the republic of Nicaragus. According to the stipulations of the treaty of Managua of 1860 it was competent for vation with the republic of Nicaragua. According to the stipulations of the treaty of Managua of 1860 it was competent for Mosquito to voluntarily incorporate with the republic, but Nicaragua was prohibited from using any force or undue influences to bring about this end.

Andrew Hendy, the chief who was installed on November 19, was chosen by the votes of a few Indians acting under pressure from Gen. Cabez, having in fact been held prisoners at Bluefields until they consented as delegates to indorse the election of Hendy. They were in no sense the delegates of the Indians of the reservation. The latest news that has reached here is to the effect that the Indians are doing their best to have the election of Hendy brought to to the attention of the United States and Great Britain, so that the stipulations of the Managua treaty may be enforced and their autonomy restored. The influences at work against them are, however, very strong and not the least of these is the gross misrepresentations that are being made in American newspapers.

All the Indians say that Nicaragua is deliberately "drawing the wool" over the eyes of the Washington and London governments so as to insure their non-intervention while she robs the poor Mosquito Indians of the territory and port secured to them by the treaty indorsed by both these powers.

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM. Copy in Dr. Smith's Handwriting Sent to the Pope.

BRIDGEPORT (Ct.,) Dec. 26.—A copy of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," in the handwriting of Rev. Dr. Samuel Smith, who wrote the hymn in 1832, is now on the way to Rome, the gift of David Secor Pell of this city to the Pope for the Vati-can library. It is not the original manu-script, as has been stated. Pell said, in Satolli in reference to sending a copy similar to the other five to His Holiness, the Pope. We did so with the result you know. The copy is in a handsome frame. The national hymn was directed to Dr. O'Connell, rector of the American college in Rome, and we will hear about it, no doubt,

THE SPANISH DUTY

What the Department Will Do About It.

The Precedent of Eight Years Ago in Relation to Trade with - Cuba.

The Treasury Department's Statis tics Show that the Spanish Colonies Will Get the Worst of the Deal.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

WASHENGTON. Dec. 26.—Unless the Spanish government within a very short tire indicates its purpose to remove the restrictions now placed on American commerce with the Spanish West Indies by the imposition of the maximum tariff on American commodities, it is probable that the President will issue a proclamation imposing "discriminating flag duties" upon Spanish, Cuban and Torto Rican imports into the United States. The intimation of this purpose on the part of the President into the United States. The intimation of this purpose on the part of the President is distinctly conveyed in a request received by the Treasury Department from the Department of State to furnish it with detailed information as to the amount of such imports and a list of the vessels carrying the Spanish flag, which trade with American ports.

It was the original intention of the State Department to have recourse to the power of prohibition of Spanish hade conveyed by the act of 1830 but, as this power has never been exercised and as it has been deemed best to follow the line of precedent, it is quite clear that the department has fallen tack upon sec. 4228 of the Revised Statutes.

deemed best to follow the line of precedent, it is quite clear that the department has fallen Lack upon sec. 4228 of the Revised Statutes.

A paragraph of the oil Merrill tarix act, which still stands on the statute books, imposes a duty of 10 per cent, in addition to all other duties upon gccdw brought in's the United States in abras of foreign countries, unless they are expressly relieved from the delittonal duty by treaty. These are known as "discriminating flag duties." Sec. 4228 above referred to authorizes the President to suspend the benefits conferred by the "discriminating flag statute on being satisfied that any country is discriminating against the United States in the matter of trade. It is a singular fact that the only country which has so far felt the force of this revision of the law is the very one against whom it is to be again used.

In 1886 the United States' relations with Spain were so strained that President Cleveland issued a proclamation reciting that Spain had falled to carry out the first article of the commercial agreement signed at Madrid on February 13, 1884, which stipulated that the differential flag duties "ahould be refleved at once from the United States products entering Cuba and Porto Rico. Being satisfied that higher and discriminating duties had been imposed in the ports of the United States upon Cuban and Porto Rican products coming under the Spanish flag. The effect of this action by the President was almost instantaneous, for in fourteen days thereafter he issued a proclamation stating that, by an agreement entered into that day (October 27, 13%), Spain had removed the source of compaint and be consequently again restored her to treatment under the favored nation clause of the treaties. Treasury officials at the request of the State Department, are engaged in collecting statistics showings the volume of trade that; would be affected by a restoration of his action is 1886 by the President.

It appears that the Spanish colonles would get much the worst of it. The ta-

President.

It appears that the Spanish colonies would get much the worst of it. The tables show that, during the fiscal year ended June 30, last, Cuba alone exported to the United States goods to the aggregate value of $75,678,361, and took from us goods to the amount of only $19,855,237. Porto Rico sent the United States in the same time goods valued at $3,145,634, and received in return goods to the amount of $2,705,646. With the direct trade with Spain, the case was reversed for exports to that country were $13,304,076, as against imports amounting to $4,255,875.

The tariff differences between Spain and the United States are being watched with keen interest by other sugar-producing the United States are being watered with keen interest by other sugar-producin countries, particularly Hawali and Brazi as the execution of Secretary Gresham' threat to discriminate against Cuba products will create a heavy demand for raw sugar, now brought almost exclusively from Cuba. Charge d'Affaires Hastings of the Hawaiian legation is an interested observer of the Spanish negotiations. The Hawaiian sugar-planters have been giving close attention to Cuba of late, many of them visiting the island and studying the Cuban processes of making sugar. close attention to Cuba of late, many of them visiting the island and studying the Cuban processes of making sugar. One of them brote to Hastings recently of the antiquated methods prevailing, and other Hawalian planters pointed out to him that the Cubans got but twenty-five tons of cane and two tons of actual sugar to the acre. The Hawalians thought that double this yield could be obtained, and that Cuban plantations could not exist if cut off from the United States markets.

Being dependent upon this country for their product, Hawali would expect to benefit if Cuba was shut out. The Hawalians expect soon to conclude European treaties. Minister Thurston has written to Hastings briefly from Lisbon to the effect that his trip to Spain is proving entirely satisfactory. The Minister has visited many European countries for the purpose of inducing them to renew their treaties of commerce and amity with the new republic of the Pacific. He has also sought to make arrangements for immigration to Hawaii of the better classes of laborers. While he gives no exact details, the tenor of his letter indicates success. He will return to Washington about January 15.

A PRISON OUTBREAK.

An Assault on a Guard in the Co lumbus Penitentiary.

Associated Fress Lensed-wire Service.

COLUMBUS (O.,) Dec. 26.—The story of an uprising among the convicts in the Ohio Penitentiary, telegraphed to day papers throughout the country, is a gross exaggeration of facts. A plot had been laid by three prisoners to kill a guard who had incurred their displeasure by report-ing them for an infraction of the rules, but none of the other prisoners were aware of the plot.

Last Wednesday Guard Temple reported Joseph O'Day, John Burke and John Bird, all short-term prisoners, for refusing to obey orders. The three convicts are desperate characters. This morning after the prisoners had marched to the shops and began work, Burke and O'Day assaulted Guard Temple. The guard tried to draw his revolver, but it caught in his pocket and a fierce atruggle for possession of the weapon resulted. Guards Felton and Butler and Guard Millier rushed to Guard Temple's assistance and made the convicts desist.

As soon as he was free, Temple, crazed by the blow on the head, drew his revolver and fired four shots at his assailants, killing O'Day and wounding Reuben Gardner, a prisoner who had not participated in the assault, in the thigh. Temple is in a serious condition.

Among the leaders who have signified their intention of being present are Senator Peffer and Jerry Simpson of Kansas, Chairman Maxwell of the Illinois State Central Committee, Congressman Pence of Colorado, Senator Kyle of South Dakota, Geore Schilling of Milwaukee, Gov. Lewelling of Kansas, Tom Watson of Georgia and others prominent in Populist politics. The conference may resust in some radical changes in the programme.

he found in the conference and each will seek to make its own views a part of the party creed in the next national campaign. The conference, being an unofficial one, cannot formulate a platform or declaration of principles, but its deliberations and conclusions will doubtless have great weight and will have much to do with shaping the future course of the party. There is first a large and powerful element in the city, headed by Chairman Taubeneck himself, which favors the concentration of the party strength on a single plank, silver. It is argued that the Omaha platform was too scattering; that it advocated too many reforms at one to be effective, and that a more effective contest could be waged on a single Jasue. The advocated to waged on a single Jasue. The advocates of a solitary silver plank argue that it would bring all the Western, mountain and Pacific States under the Populist banner, and also capture many of the Southern States. This idea will be advocated by the Western delegates and many of those from the South.

There is another element which, while as strongly in favor of free silver as the former faction, is inclined to urge other measures of reiler as well. This element desires the adoption of a national platform containing four essential planks, those on money, land, transportation and taxation. The first plank embodies the free-silver declaration and also demands the creation of a greenback currency as well. Its demands as to land and transportation are those at present made by existing platforms, while the income tax will be defended and the single-taxers find room for their favorite theory.

The Socialistic group will form the third element. It will, in fact, be a Chicago product and will be backed by the flower of Chicago Socialism. This element has but one demand, and that it will insist upon. That is Plank 10. In other words, if the Populist party expects the aid and comfort of the Socialists, it must declare that all means of production and distribution of commodities must belong to the people. The champions of Plank 10 will be willing to support free silver, or will accept the views of the second element. accept the views of the second element, provided Plank 10 is also recognized. It will thus be seen that the Socialiste group stands in a position to aid either of the other factions in consideration of the recognition of its own beloved principle. The outcome is one which will be awaited with interest. If Plank 10 is repudiated, it is hinted that the Socialists will, in all probability, sever their connection with the party.

ACTS OF VANDALS

The Basement of the Senate Wing of the Capitol Broken Into.

secciated Press Leased-wire Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. — The Senate washington, Dec. 29.— The Senate end of the Capitol has been the scene of more or less vandalism within the last few years. Less than a week ago some one entered the closets of the basement floor and broke several bowls, and yester day, or last night, the barber shop was robbed of all its portables in the way of shears and razors while other articles were wantonly destroyed. These acts have been of but little consequence in them-selves, but they have created some apprehensions in the minds of the executive officials of the Senate, who fear the vanofficials of the Senate, who fear the vandals may next turn their attention to the valuable pictures and statues which adorn the building, or probably to the archives on file in various rooms, many of which could be reached with comparatively little effort by any one who had once gained access to the building.

There seems to be as yet no definite theory on the part of any one in explanation of the depredations, but the officials generally consider that they might have been prevented if the Capitol police force, which numbers only six men to the watch, had been larger.

Disastrous Runaway Sunday-School Christmas Exercises.

School Christmas Exercises.

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 26.—(Special Correspondence.) Yesterday was an eventful day for Henley Booth. He and his cousin, James Warren, went to Montectio for a drive. Mr. Warren stopped at the house of a friend, and Mr. Hooth started back with the team. Near Mr. Hunter's place the horses suddenly became frightened and upest the bugsy, throwing Mr. Booth against a barbed wire fence, cutting his arm very badly. He was taken to Judge Hail's residence. Dr. Crooks dressed his wounds and he was brought home last evening. After throwing Mr. Booth out the buggy righted and the horses ran down the Cliff road to the cemetery, where they went over the bank smashing the buggy completely, and landing the horses in the surf. But for the prompt action of a man who happened to be near by and cut the harness from the borses, one would have drowned. As it is the animal is severely injured.

A very pleasant evening was passed at the Congregational Church last night, the attraction being a very beautiful Christmas tree. The managers of the entertainment had planned so that all the members of the Sunday-schol were remembered and not one was forgotten. Queen Victoria's Fire Brigade. Queen Victoria's Fire Brigade.

Queen Victoria has a great horror of fire, and has arranged quite a complete fire brigade among her servants, so that it is at hand wherever she is in residence.
They had a successful "false alarm" the other day at Osborne, and every one was at his post, according to order, as if on other useful domestic roles, is chief of the little brigade. The Queen has taken the greatest interest in the whole concern and frequently amuses herself by

In every apartment used by Queen Victoria, not even excluding the dining-room, there is always an inkstand for Her Majesty's convenience in case of an emergency, provided with a fresh quitipen. For ordinary continuous correspondence, however, the Queen prefers a steel nib, although the "Victoria R." with the rice little amndge underneath, is of course the work of a quill.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.

A Million-dollar Structure is to be Erected on the Site.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—Two tot-tering chimneys, the carved lion which stood guard at the stairway descending to the lower floor, charred timbers and ashes-are all that remains of the Cliff House, owned by Mayor-elect Sutro. The remain-der is reminiscence, for the Cliff House is a thing of the past. A million dollar structure of steel and stone will be erected on its site. Fire destroyed everything on its site. Fire destroyed everything except a few souvenirs, the mirrors, and easily moveable furniture, the silverware, moveable furniture, the silverware, vintages and liquors and a part except a few souvenirs, the mirrors, and easily moveable furniture, the silverware, choice vintages and liquors and a part of the bar fixtures.

The fire was a hidden one between celling and walls. It started from a defective fine, and when the flames found a vent there was a rush and a roar of fire that could not be controlled. A sharp, steady breeze from an northeast drove the flames and smoke directly across the Seal Rocks. As the wind stiffened, the flames spread oceanwards in a horizontal line and the sparks fell in a continuous shower on the breakers and the rocks. The seals hawking betook themselves from the rocks and sought refuge in the sea. Sutro's magnificent baths, the finest in, the world, adjoin the Chiff House and it was feared they, too, would be demolished. Fortunately the wind was in the opposite direction and the baths were saved.

"I am sorry, of course, that the building is burned," said Adolph Sutro. "It had become one of the landmarks of the Pacific Coast and many promisent persons have been entertained there. Three of America's greatest Presidents have watched the seals sport on the rocks and each of them spent many hours on the balconies that have disapeared with the flames. Grant was the first of the trio, and, after him came Hayes, who though this visit not complete without watching the moods of the Pacific from the Chiff House. The next President to come out here was Harrison, and he became so enamored with the place that he spent many hours on the balconies.

"Besides these celebrities there have been a number of titled people from Europe and, among them was the first of Canada. Each of them carried away many mementoes of the place and they have frequently referred to it in their letters and public utterances. Now, it is gone and its destruction will probably hasten the erection of the proposed hotel on Point Lobos. Just when the work of construction will begin it is impossible to tell. The hotel referred to it in their letters and public utterances. Now, it is gone and its destruction will probably basten the erection of the proposed hotel on Point Lobos. Just when the work of construction will begin it is impossible to tell. The hotel scheme has not been fully matured.

"It had been my intention to build the hotel farther out on the point and a few hundred feet nearer the Golden Gate, but now it may go on the site of the old Chiff House. That will depend on the size of the building. A hotel of very large proportions could not well be erected on the site of the house just destroyed, but there is room for a good-sized building that will probably answer all requirements. Any way one feature of the new building will be an elevator that will take visitors from the walk along the beach up to the top of the cliff and save the climb up the steep grade."

Sutro says that he will rebuild the Cliff House and has already consulted an architect about plans. The new building will probably be on the site of the old one.

The Crew of the Steamship Arawa Refuse to Work.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—The crew of the steamship Arawa celebrated Christ-mas on shore and so much to their own satisfaction that this morning they refused satisfaction that this morning they retused to go to work. The men shipped in Liverpool and signed articles for two years. When the officers of the Arawa went to look up the missing tars and urge them to report on board ship, they were met to report on board ship, they were met with a flat refusal to resource werk until the conclusion of the boliniay celebration. The men insist that, under the English rule, they are entitled to a four days rest at Christmas and they intimated that, at the conclusion of that time, they would return to the Arawa in good order.

Capt. Stuart was not in the least disturbed by the attitude of the crew, for he at once engaged a number of men from the dock, set them to work and informed the celebrating sallors that the wages of the new men would be deducted from their pay at the end of the vovage. The deserters are having a very merry time on shore, while the new men are hard at work discharging the Arawa's cargo.

THE COLUMBIA.

Queer Features in Her Case-She

San Francisco, Dec. 26.—The steamer SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—The steamer Willamette came into port as the tug Fearless was steaming out last night, in search for the steamer Columbia, reported adrift of Point Reyes, but Capt. Haskell of the tug did not stop to speak to her. The Willamette came from the north, and she reported having passed the Columbia in the afternoon above Point Reyes. The Columbia was just about in the position she would have been had no accident happened to her. The captain of the Willamette, observing that she was making no headway, slowed down, expecting to be signaled. Not a sign came from the Columbia though, and the Willamette proceeded on her way to the city.

The George W. Elder left here at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and should have made Point Reyes light at the time the steamer was whistling. The Elder is a freight-steamer owned by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, and if she heard the Columbia's siren she would undoubtedly go to her aid and stay by the vessel until all danger was past. The puzzling feature of the whole affair to the Weather Bureau men is the fact that the Columbia displayed no signals of distress. When she was first sighted, according to the operator at Point Reyes, the signals at that place were up, but the steamer made no response. She was evidently well enough out to sea to be in no immediate danger of drifting ashore or striking upon the rocks.

After an invocation by Rev. J. A. Crusan and singing, the Committee on Amendments was appointed. It is proposed to introduce an amendment changing the time of meeting so that it will be during the holiday week, the time will be left with Executive Committees. I rof. Kleeberger, in his annual address, made suggestions for the betterment of the public school system. He cald that the present one is not as good as it should he, and that improvements should be rapidly made so that education could keep up with the march of progress. He condemned the placing of the educational system of the State in the control of politicians; also the influence exerted by political bosses in procuring positions for their friends. He said:

So long as teachers will resort to political method so long will political basses feel free to fill the schoolrooms with incompetent favorites. Prof. Kleeberger spoke at length on child culture as a means of obtaining the best educational results. He said that teachers must imbue their pupils by practice, as well as by precept, so that in the next generation a race of clear-hearted and clear headed men will sweep away the bosses. Teachers should stand firmly against the bosses who would prostitute the public school to further their vile purposes. The curriculum should broaden the child'r environment and to do so there should be co-relation of related subjects and concentration of child's efforts upon a few lines of research and thought.

THE INSURANCE UNION.

Its Dissolution Would Diminish Protection Against Fire at 'Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—The dis-uption of the Pacific Insurance Union will be a loss to San Francisco in more ways than one. William MacDonald, manager of the London and Lancashire, in speaking of the matter, said;

"Should the union become disrupted, the protection now offered to property against loss by fire would be greatly lessened. The union maintained an inspection bureau, which offered valuable assistance to the fire marshal. Committees patrol every section of the city and see that the provisions of the fire ordinance are rigidly observed. fire marshal. Committees patrol every section of the city and see that the provisions of the fire ordinance are rigidly observed. They go through the Chinese quarter, where the inhabitants have a strong inclination to put a stovepipe through all kinds of inflammable material. They see that iron ash-receivers are used in houses throughout the city. The union employs an expert electrician to inspect the wiring of buildings for lighting purposes, so as to reduce the chances of fire from electric sparks to a minimum. If there is no concerted action on the part of the insurance companies, all this work will be dropped. The fire marshal could not begin to do the work which the union is doing. The disruption of the union will be a serious loss to the city.

"It is really to the interest and welfare of the city that the companies should make a fair income on their business. The fire patrol has saved the merchants of the city millions of dollars, and I should dislike to see the service abolished. However, I do not think that there is any imminent danger of that. Even should, the union break up, I believe that the companies would contribute to the support of the fire patrol."

The Commercial Union, the Firemens' Fund, Home Mutual, Manchester, Caledonis, America, Agricultural of Watertown, N. Y.; Lancashire of Manchester, St. Paul, Teutonia of New Orleans and Girard of Philadelphia, insurance companies, have given notice of their intention to withdraw from the Pacific Insurance Union. The Northwestern National, the New Zealand and Sun are involved in a difficulty with the Union over the payment of salaries to solicitors, pro-hibited by Union rules, and the Phoenix and Home are already out of the insurance compact.

Many agent, some representing the companies mentioned, do not want to disband, recognizing the advantage of concurrent action. They have given notice of withdrawal to be able to meet the rate-cutting drawal to be able to meet the rate-cutting expected from those companies aiready out of the union. Notices of withdrawals are expected from many other companies, but extraordinary efforts are being made to reorganize the union on new lines. Ratecutting would greatly diminish the profits and would force many small companies to the wall.

A Question as to Who Should Arres a Drunken Italian.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

OAKLAND, Dec. 28.—Maudlin, prone in the mud, face downward, unable to move, his head in Bay District, his feet in Oakland, Santos Ruffini an Italian, lay for three hours. The Dakland police would not assist him because his head was outside of their jurisdiction and the constab-prostrate Italian because his fet were in Oakland.

The man lay where he had fallen, in the center of Hollis street, near the California and Nevada Railroad-track. He was lying face downward in the adobe mud. Some women residing in the neighborhood heard the man crying for help. They went to San Pablo avenue and notified Mounted Policeman Michael Powers. The careful guardian of the law made an investigation and discovered: First, that the man was drunk; second, that he was unable to move; third, that the line dividing Oakland from Bay District, Oakland township, beseeted the body of the mun in the street and that his legs were within the jurisdiction of Oakland police department, but his head and torso subject to the, law as it is interpreted by Constable Keating and his Juties. The policeman therefore mounted his horse and rode away, leaving the Italian to his complication of misfortunes.

and rode away, leaving the Italian to his complication of misfortunes.

People in the neighborhood hunted up Powers again and remonstrated with him, but the policeman declared that he was unable to decide how to act. To arrest a drunken man was his duty, but how could he take the man to jall, when only the fellow's legs were amenable to the laws of the municipality. The subject was equally puzzling to the constables, and all the while Ruffini lay sinking into the mire. Finally a machinist employed at the Judson Works got some boards and helped the fellow out of the mud.

The wind was then bad as the big storm was brewing and he noticed the Keweenaw slowed down quickly and headed out to sea. It was Capt. SEATTLE (Wash...) Dec. 26.—The following message came to Puyallup today, by a homing pigeon sent by the Post-Intelligencer Mount Ranier party:

"Camp Mountain View, foot of Carbon Glacier, Wednesday, Dec. 28.—While crossing the Winthrop glacier, yesterday, Maj.

ngraham made a critical examination o Slaine glacier, by which the ascent to the nummit was to have been made, and ound that the ice and snow was so broken found that the ice and snow was so broken that an attempt to climb up would have proven disastrous. Consequently the summit was not attempted.

"The expedition has been an entire success. It has demonstrated that while the mountain has been both smoking and steaming, the change is due principally to the tremendous avalanches and not to an eruption. The new peak observed from Seattle is of Columbia's crest, and was formed by spiral winds carrying the snow and whipping it into the cone-shaped peak described. The party will be home Friday."

CONFLICTING CLAIMS

of the Consolidated Wyoming, Gold Minng Company vs. the Champion Mining Company has been compromised and set tled by the attorney for the Wyoming company. The Champion company pur-chased all of the property and settles all the claims against the Wyoming company for $77,500.

The question involved was whether extra lateral rights attach to a mining claim when the apex of the iode is crossed by one end-line and one side-line of surface location. The United States Court decided that side-lines become end-lines only where both side-lines cross the general course of the lode.

MRS. ASTOR'S DEATH.

SHE MADE NO EFFORT TO WITH STAND DISEASE.

The Strict Seclusion Observed by the Family at Cliveden Caused Unfavorable Comment by Taplowites.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—A special dispatch to the World from London says that the strict seclusion observed by the Astor family at Clivedon Juring the past three months has been much discussed in the village of Taplow. The Astors pre-served a secrecy touching Mrs. Astor's illness which is usual only with royaltie and it is stated that far less was known about the affairs of the mansion in the vicinity than when it was tenanted by the Duke of Westminster and others who live only in history.

The World correspondent learned, however, that the principal features of the deceased lady's illness was a profound depression which could not be dispelled. deceased lady's liness was a protound depression which could not be dispelled, rendering her case almost helpless from the first. Mrs. Astor suffered from a severe illness early in the year. Since then her health has never been robust, but it transpired only about three weeks ago; owing to the visits of a leading London doctor, that she was again sick. It is said now that though her physical allments were complicated, they might have been amenable to treatment if the patient had seconded the efforts of her doctors by any attempt to fight against them. Deah came somewhat suddenly and quite unexpectedly, it being believed both by the family and the physicians that there was no immediate danger, though little hope of ultimate recovery was entertained. The husband was completely prostrated by the blow, weakened as he was by apprehension which had oppressed him sorely. For several weeks he had been seen nowhere in society, though he rarely missed going to attend business at his handsome office in Thames Embankment, London, for a few hours each day.

missed going to attend business at his handsome office in Thames Embankment, London, for a few hours each day.

It has been Astor's custom to see his lawyers and accountants almost every day and to confer with the editors of his various publications. He often dictates articles to shorthand clerks, and, indeed, he exhibits a business shrewdness and capacity for details which long ago convinced all brought the contact with him that, had he not inherited a fortune, he certainly would have made one. His wife's illness and death have accentuated his increasing distaste for social pleasures and practically made him a recluse. when able to get about, Mrs. Asto on as lavish a scale as they anticipated. The house-seems to tave impressed the people of the neighborhood as being pervaded by an atmosphere of gloom, something very different from what it was in the hands of its former tenants. It is now common rumor in Taplow that Astor will leave Cliveden which may be repurchased by the Duke of Westminster, who always regretted selling it. It is also thought in Taplow that Astor will return to live in America, but those best acquainted with him declare this very improbable, all his plans being based or making England his permanent home.

The National Bank of California is one of the few banks that successfully stood the shock of the late panic and maintained full coin payments right through.

The National Bank of California pays no. Interest on deposits in any form offers no special mulceinents for business other than reitability when the customers exercise their right to demand their money.

In the matter of loans it looks more to reliability than high rates of interest, and desires on came except from good and reliable parties, and then exacts good security, believing that no bank is better or more reliable than its loans

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 25, 1894.

The guava is plentiful in the fruit stands at present and is selling at very moderate prices, one-pound boxes being retailed at 5 cents each. The guava is a fruit which is unknown to almost all our Eastern visitors. It has come rapidly into favor with Californians during the past year or two, and there appears to be a good opening for an extension of planting in this direction, as the fruit can be largely utilized for the manufacture of jelly. The celebrated guava jelly, which brings such a high price in Europe, is manufactured from a yellow variety that is only raised in Southern California on a limited scale. It is quite a large fruit and yields heavy crops. OFFICE OF THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The stock market was characterized by a tone of depression throughout the greater part of the day. There were occasional periods of firmness during the morning, but the light improvements made were quickly lost under the influence of the selling movement, which, while slight, was effective in breaking down prices by reason of the absence of any supporting orders. Chicago Gas and Distilling were about the only active stocks which resisted the efforts of the bears during the morning. Distilling was in very good buying demand in the early dealings, purchases being by insiders who anticipated the success of the plan of reorganization. An advance of 1 by per cent. was recorded before noon, all but 36 per cent. of which was lost during the afternoon. Chicago Gas was bought on Westert. orders, the purchases being credited to recent sellers who desired to get back their stock. The stock advanced 13 per cent. In the later trading. The Cordage shares were motably weak on the consolidation of the speculative act on which the margains were so mearly exhausted as to require the stock to be sold as a precautionary measure. Assault to Murder. Charles Hipchon, arrested by Officer Johnson for assault to murder, was arraigned before Justice Seaman yesterday, and his examination set for Saturday, and his examination set for Saturday, December 29, at 9:30 a.m. The case is a December 29, at 9:30 a.m. The case is a more serious one than at first supposed, as the later developments show that Hipchon stabbed John Lockhard five times instead of twice, twice in the neck and three times in the back. The pocket knife has a three and one-half inch blade, and but for Lockhard's having on a very heavy overcoat and a large muffler around his neck, he would have been killed instead of being now on the road to recovery. The affair occurred during a saloon brawi at the corner of First and Los Angeles streets.

THE LEXOW INVESTIGATION AND ITS LESSONS.

Much of the space in our Eastern exchanges is still devoted to the dis cussion of the problem of improving the government of our large cities astounding revelations which have been made before the Lexow Committee in New York appear to have thoroughly aroused the respect element in most of our large cities, to the absolute necessity of facing this problem and solving it, before boodle and corruption become so firmly entrenched that it will need a revolution to do so. Apropos of the Lexow investigation that body appears to have surprised itself at the amount of filth and corruption which it has turned up, and is showing an evident disinclination to proceed any further if it can help itself. There has been manifest an evident inclination to shield Inspector office. It was stated that Byrnes would not be called to the witness stand, but later dispatches indicate that the pressure of public opinion has been so strong that he will probably have to appear. Were it not for the persistence of Mr. Goff and of Dr. Parkburst, it is doubtful whether the committee would have accomplished very much, as the general opinion is that it was only organized for camranches, small farms and great orpaign purposes. When the press once began to show the astounding and incredible extent to which corruption had spread in the municipal government, it was, however, impossible for the committee to back out, and so the American public has been treated to the unveiling of a condition of affairs in municipal government that probably has not its equal in modern times among civilized nations. Indeed, it is doubtful whether even in China, where officials are expected to live off the bribes and blackmail that they can earn, there has ever existed a more dete and thoroughly-organized system of extracting all the traffic will bear from law-breakers and others by those who are supposed to be guardians of law and order. It is reported that an attempt will be made to place the reorganization of the New York police force in the hands of Inspector Byrnes. This will strike most peoas an extraordinary suggestion. Either Mr. Byrnes was unaware of the awful corruption which permeated police force under his command, or be was aware of it. In either cas is unfit to hold office on that force any longer. To an unprejudiced outr the placing of the present chief arge of a reorganized police force in New York would be in the nature of a screaming farce. The idea which has been advanced that the New York police force should placed on a minute, ed on a military footing and merit, and serve during good be-tor, is doubtless the only right one. is only by keeping the police out of small farms and prosperous homes.

Exceeding the net circulation of any other two Los Angeles daily papers. of politics that any good results can be accomplished. As long as a position on the force is regarded as a legitimate reward for party services-as long as local politicians and wire-pullers can override the judgment and wishes of the man who is at least nominally command of the force-we must ex-ect to see corruption the rule rather than the exception among the guardians of the peace in our large cities. One of the lessons taught by the Lexow investigation is that citizen should not allow the affairs of a munic ipality to go too far on the down-ward path before they step in and call a halt. It is much easier to cure a sick man if his case is taken up in good time than when he is allowed to go on until he has one foot in the grave. By that time the disease bas become so deep-rooted that it needs omething like a reconstruction of the man's entire system to effect the Above all, this investigation and the municipal revolution which took place in New York at the recent election, show that in spite of rings, boodle and slates, and all the improved machinery of the ward politician, the decent, law-abiding voters still have the nower in their own hands. It is a standing disgrace to the United States that our best citizens so seldom are willing to combine and exercise that As a rule, they can only be roused to a sense of the necessity of action when their property, if not their lives, are in actual danger. There is reason to hope, however, that in view of the wide and earnest discussion that s now going forward throughout the country on the subject of municipal government, the time is not far distant when every good citizen will recognize it as his duty to take an active interest and devote a small portion of his time to the public affairs of the city where he resides and makes his living. When that time comes, the rule of the party boss and the wire puller in municipal politics will be at

THE SEASON'S PROMISE

The way in which our rains are coming this year is encouraging. Ou first heavy rain was somewhat late in the season, giving the farmer ample time to make ready for its coming. His fall work was all done, his crop stored, and he was fully in waiting for the moisture that should put th earth in a fit condition for his annual plowing and seed-sowing. And now hey come as needed, without too long an interval between each storm. California never had better promise of a good season than at present, and she illustrates, better, perhaps, than any other State in the Union, the oftasserted fact that those sections that make agriculture a specialty or the leading employment of its people, are usually the most prosperous and independent portions of the country, feel-Byrnes and a few others high in ling less than any other the stress of hard times. Although the Democratic party for the past two years has done its best to cripple the industries of the country by unwise legislation, we in California have felt the pressure far less than the great manufacturing cities and the sections dependent upon them. We have seen less of want, less of suffering, and less of idleness than have the other portions of the country. A pastoral people, with cultivated > chards and vineyards, we have gone on with the usual routine of our in dustrial life far less affected by the "change" for which the masses blindly voted at our last Presidential election than the other States of the Union, finding a market for our products and a sufficient return for them to supply the general needs of our communities Los Angeles has been phenomenally prosperous. Trade is brisk, and ou merchants testify that never before was the holiday season so active as at present. Sales are lively, purchasers are plenty, and are buying much more largely than heretofore. The building boom still keeps up, also, and the class of houses which are being erected are such as could be built only where capital was easy and at com mand. Our city is growing rapidly, and on a healthy basis. There is plenty of money in our banks, and a large amount in general circulation. and with the prospect for a good year, agriculturally, which we can safely an-ticipate in the face of our timely and abundant rains, we may look forward to even more rapid growth and development than we have yet experienced.

> Moreover, with every year there is greater diversity in our crops, and therefore less fear of failure, and less danger of hard times. It has been pretty well demonstrated that what ever can be grown anywhere under the sun will thrive in our soil and climate. And we have still a vast amount of virgin soil to be brought under cultivation, room for thousands

We need only the diligent hand labor combined with the necessary capital, to make us a vast, prosperous empire with infinite resources at our

The seasons rarely fail us here. A dry year comes at rare intervals, and when it does come we find compensation in more abundant crops in the years that immediately follow it. The theory has been advanced that these occasional dry years are a beneficent arrange ment of nature, which gives to the land its needed rest. And the suppo sition is a reasonable one. A soil in which is continuous growth through out the year, with harvests ripening In every one of the twelve months night well require rest occasionally and yield all the better for it. Last winter was a partially dry one, with less than an average rainfall, but still we pulled through it without heavy loss. Our citrus harvest was than ordinarily abundant, as were many other of our fruit crops and had it not been for the great railroad strike, which unfortunately occurred when the most perishable fruits hould have been marketed, our farmers would, many of them, have real ized small fortunes from the abundance of their supplies, but this year when the promise is so good in al directions, it is to be hoped that our farmers will have no such drawbacks to contend with, but that we shall ex perience a season of unlimited pros perity and growth, such as even Demo cratic perversity and blindness canno naterially hinder, and when a new political regime is established, and th general government is once more in he hands of the Republican party with its wiser political and financia policies determining the legislation of he country, we may look to see Cali era of rapid advancement, in which our city shall have its due share.

HORSEMEN'S PARADISE.

The sentiment is unanimous among he owners of the great racehorses now sojourning in Los Angeles that our climate is admirably adapted to the promotion of the health, strength, vitality, and consequently the speed, of the fivers. This is the first time that these horses have been wintered here, but it will probably not be the last if the opinions expressed by their own ers is any criterion of their intentions for the future.

One of the special advantages lies in the fact that our mild and equable climate permits the daily exercise of the horses, at the speeding pace whereas such exercise is impossible in the frost-bound regions of the East during the winter months. Thus it is easy to keep the animals in fine racing condition, instead of allowing their flesh and muscles to lose hardness highest importance, and is certain to attract the attenion of horsemen mor and more, from all over the country so soon as the many advantages of winter sojourn in Southern California are understood. It will not be a surprising result of the future if most of the fast horses in the country are eventually brought here to winter. Up to the present time, it is true none of the horses have broken their previous records, on the track here But the conditions have been particu larly unfavorable, owing to the recen rains and the exceptionally disagrees ble weather. The track, with some improvements, can easily be made the finest in the country, and there is no reason to doubt that, were the horses sent over the present track in dry weather, there would be some recordsmashing that would astonish country. As it is, under all the unfavorable conditions, the Coast record has been lowered in two instances Many believe that, under more favorable auspices, the two-minute so long believed to be but a chimera of fanciful sportsmen, would be reached or passed with comparative it becomes a mere farce in others. ease upon the Los Angeles track. However this may be, it is certain that no better conditions for fast time can be found anywhere than here, and the near future will very probably furnish a complete demonstration of

It is to be hoped, now that some of the leading horsemen of the country have found out the incomparable advantages of Los Angeles, that they will come to us in increasing numbers, not alone in winter, but in summer. Our summer climate is even finer than our winter climate, and the track is sure to be in better condition in summer than at present, when the vicissitudes of the rainy season must be taken into account: It would be nothing strange if the world's greatest record-breaking hould yet occur in Los Angeles.

INYO COUNTY.

It is much to be hoped that during the coming year something besides talk will be done in the way of bringing Los Angeles into connection with the rich mineral fields of Inyo county, of which section our people know less than of Arizona.

Sparse population and difficulty of transportation have prevented mining in Inyo county for any metals but gold, silver and lead, the last two be ing always found together. The silverlead ore is sent by rail to San Fran cisco for smelting; recently it has been carried by sea from San Francisco to Oregon, the miners getting better returns there after paying the sea freight. No ore is shipped that carries less than eighty ounces silver per ton, and the proportion of lead is from 60 to 80 per cent. This makes it valuable to smelters for mixing with other ores that do not contain lead all settled in advance of the election. enough to smelt ensily. The ore pays the miners from $50 to $200 or $300 per ton. Most of the in the southern part of the county, and Keeler is the principal shipping-point, ore being hauled there from distances of twenty-four to tance to haul only selected ore is sent from the mines. A railroad from Mo jave to Owens Valley would neces sarily come within easy reach of the best mining districts, and short branches could be easily run in to the mines.

THE SALOON QUESTION IN MIN

The city of Minneapolis has ventured on a new line in its treatment of the saloon question. The saloon has been practically eliminated from municipa politics. This has been accomplished through a law regulating the saloon commonly spoken of as the "patro limits act." The substance of this lay The substance of this law was first incorporated in a city ordinance passed by the City Council and afterward made a part of the charter by an act of the Legislature. This provision prohibits the issuance of license for the sale of intoxicating liquors outside the limits of the principal business center of the city, whie district is specifically bounded in th act. When the ordinance was passed. the district in which saloons might be licensed was the portion of the city that was regularly patrolled night and day by the police; hence the popular name of the act. "the patrol limits. Outside this district lies practically the entire residence portion of the city and many manufacturing and business centail stores and business-houses that have been built in recent years.

The law was passed to take the sa loon away from the homes of the city and locate it where it would be under continual police surveillance. For several years this law was the fightingground of the two leading political parties, but the loyalty of the city to the law has been, election after elec tion, demonstrated, and for severa years past no candidate of any party has dared to announce himself as opposed to the patrol limits. As a mean of controlling the ordinary evils that flow from the saloon business, the law has been a great practical success, and has accomplished something that its framers did not, perhaps, anticipate in destroying the political power of the saloon. The political influence of the saloon, so great in many cities, arises from the saloon being located in every part of the city and made a local political center for people whose home are in the vicinity and who make the saloon their evening loafing-place. Several wards in the city and more than two-thirds of the voting precincts of the city have not a saloon within their limits. It is clear that in these wards and precincts the saloon and sa loon influences can have little effect either in primaries or elections

An illustration of the impracticability of arbitration as a cure for labo troubles is furnished in a dispatch from Massillon, O., which states that the miners employed at the Anderson mines have refused to accept the rate of 60 cents per ton, decided upon by the Arbitration Committee, and are idle in consequence, with the prospect that all miners in the district will cease work. It is of no use to arbitrate dispute of any kind unless both par ties to the disagreement are absolute'y bound to abide by the terms of the arbitration. Inasmuch as both parties can not be forcibly bound in such a compact, compulsory arbitration is ut terly impracticable. Voluntary arbitration is equally so, unless both par ties are responsible, and will absolutely bind themselves to abide by the decision. Labor unions are irresponsible in a legal sense, not being incorporated bodies, in full legal signification of the term. Though they may agree to ar bitration, they can subsequently fuse to abide by its results, as in the case under consideration, and the lay is powerless to compel them to keep their agreement. For this reason among others, while arbitration may be a good expedient in some instances

Grover's and Gresham's idea annear to be that the greenbacks and all other forms of national paper currency should be wiped out of existence a soon as possible, the banks being made the sole sources of issue. There are a great many pretty well informed peo ple who view this theory with sus picion, and believe that paper currency with the credit and prestige of government back of it is far safer than currency which is backed by nothing more substantial than the credit of

Robert Louis Stevenson attributed his success chiefly to industry. He "Nobody ever had such pains to learn a trade as I had, but I slogged at it day in and day out, and I frankly believe-thanks to my industry-that I have done more with smaller gifts than almost any man of letters in the world." The modern idea that genius is only another name for industry, is gaining ground.

St. Louis is already in the field as the place for holding the next Repub lican national convention. In view of the magnificent results achieved by the Republicans of Missouri at the No vember election, it must be confessed that the claims of St. Louis are such that they cannot be ignored. The time has come when Southern Republicans have some claims upon the party.

TEMPERANCE EVANGELIST.

The First of Rev. Mr. Tracy's Revival Meetings.

The first of the series of revival meet ings and stereopticon views to be given by Dr. Tracy in Simpson Tabernacle, was held in that edifice last evening with a good-sized audience in attendance. Tracy has spent eighteen years in evan-gelistic and temperance work in the Middle, Western and Southern States, and comes to this city highly spoken of by the press. He is a man of highly intellectual appearance, with clean-shaven face, long flowing hair, and keen, dark eyes.

Arter a snort prayer service Dr. Tracy chose for his subject, the scene at the grave of Lazarus. Among his remarks he seld: "Humanity is the same now as it was when Jesus fed the multitude and when Mary washed the feet of her Lord with precious ointment, and some said, "Why this haste?" So today we have men objecting to a religion, which requires a sacrifice to maintain it.

"Christ came out tired, and weary from the buffetings of His persecution and sought the home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus. When Martha met Him at the door and said, 'If Thou hadst been here, our brother had not died,' she was lonely and desired the Christ. None of us need ever have a lonely moment if we accept Christ, for He will always be with us.

"We are bidden to come out from the world. Can we tell the difference on the street, in the appearance of a worldly man and a Christian? The time was when you could tell a Methodist as far as you could see him, now you can scarcely draw a hair line between the Christians and the world. That is the reason that more souls are not save!.

the world. That is the reason that more souls are not saved.

"Martha had faith when she said to the Savior. 'Whatsoever Thou askest of God, He will give to Thee—and He said, 'Thy brother shall rise again.' Do you want a revival? Are you praying for it now? Or for some time in the future?' Let us have holy living, self-sacrificing work for the Master. May God make up the fatherhood and motherhood of this city, for the sons and daughters of the homes of Los Angeles."

After this short talk Dr. Tracy threw upon the canvas the scenes representing the footsteps of Jesus. First the angel appearing to the Virgin Mary, and from the birth in the manger at Bethlehem, so on through the whole life of the Savior to the crucifixion, resurrection and ascension.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Apropos of the Polish Pictures. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26, 1894.—(To the Eiditor of The Times:) One of the pleasant surprises of the World's Fair of 1893 was the exhibit of the Society of Polish Artists. So little had been expected of this down-trodden country that very inade quate provisions had been made for it installation, and, as is unfortunately also the case at the Pavilion here, one of the crying complaints at Chicago was the bad hanging of the Polish pictures. Nevertheless, they were seen, and the impression created was one of profound and lasting appreciation. The chain of event which has led to the practical stranding of this autory collection when the property of the control of the control

The amount required to secure the col-lection, or its better part, seems a matter of no importance in comparison to the public benefit to be derived from its presence here, and the standing which such a possession would give to the city in com-parison with other cities of its age and

Art is a need to humanity and high art an urgent need, an absolute necessity to a high state of culture and civilization. The gathering of such a collection is usu-ally the work of a lifetime, and result of endless seeking, selecting and bargaining aside from the great cost of buying new pictures under competition and in glamour of their novelty and first succ glamour of their novelty and first success. Here is an opportunity for some of our public-spirited men and women to build for themselves a monument which shall perpetuate their name through all time. A museum in this city would be of incal-A museum in this city would be of incal-culable value not only as an educator but as an attraction which will bring to us the most desirable class of visitors. Many of its smaller pictures were sold at the Chismaller pictures were sold at the Chicago and Midwinter fairs, but nearly all the larger and more important works remain. They are: The "Evening Song," by Zmurko, the largest painting of the collection, a most poetical and beautiful production, painted with a masterly handling of few colors, in the impressionistic school; the "Feudal Law," and "Oplum Eaters," by the same artist, executed in the same masterly manner; "Queen Hedwig" and "The Vision of King Sigmund," two historical paintings by Gerson, highly finished, admirably composed, and splendidly drawn; and two allegorical paintings by the same artist, "Musik" and "Painting," full of life and motion, with exquisitely-drawn figures. These two pictures would be admirably adapted for the ceiling of a museum. The celebrated picture, "An Exiled Polish Woman's Death," by Malezewski, "The Holy Mother," by Syka, and "The Crucifixion," by Piechowski, are three other fine paintings, though in the last named, the bleeding figure of Christ is altogether too realistic. "The Good Samaritan," by Tremba, is one of the best paintings there in cotor drawing and distance, and "Milda, the Goddess of Love," by Alchimowicz, stands alone in sublime perfection, with its strikingly-effective background and beautifully-drawn figure.

Besides these, there are twelve figure smaller pictures were sold at the cago and Midwinter fairs, but nearly

Besides these, there are twelve figure paintings, which received the highest awards wherever exhibited; there are two landscapes in the collection, one, "A Midsummer Night," by Ryaz Reinwież, and a smaller one by Topish, whose large canvass, "After the Storm," was sold from the Midwinter Fair to the St. Louis Museum.

BRAND THE CLAIM AS FALSE. World's Fair Officials Expose a Pretender to an Award

CHICAGO (Ill.,) Dec. 26.—One of the odd results of the World's Fair is the claim now made to awards by some who were not even exhibitors. Officials of the ex-position have not as yet taken final action in the matter, believing the quick wit of in the matter, believing the quick wit of the people will detect the spurious claims. But to the case of a New York baking powder, that has been widely advertiging an award, the attention of the Chief of Awards for Agriculture, has been directed. He brands the claim of this pretender as false, declaring "Neither the records of this department, nor the official catalogue of the World's Columbian Exposition show that the New York company was an exhibitor; consequently it could not receive an award at the World's Fair."

Those who fairly won their honors at the fair seem disposed to treat this fraud as any other fraud should be treated. The Price Baking Powder Company of Chicago having received the highest award, say they are convinced their claims, and those of all other holders of rightful honors, will be fully vindicated by the public.

THE NATION'S WARDS.

THE INDIANS NOT SELF-SUP-PORTING.

A General Complaint in the Reports by the Agents Against the Issu-ance of Rations to the Redskins. Associated Press Leased-wire Service WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.--A general complaint against the issuance of government rations to Indians is made in the an nual reports of agents. Capt. P. H. Ray of the Shoshone agency, Wyoming, says: "They will never become self-supporting "They will never become self-supporting as long as the government gives them a semblance of support; neither, can they begin to accumulate property as long as the supply of the necessaries of life is solely in the hands of white traders."

Another factor retarding the development complained of by Capt. Ray is that the chiefs are allowed to dictate to the agents as to the issue of annuities and affairs of the agency. The removal of the troublesome chiefs is recommended. The Shoshones are regarded as communists, who are loath to take up any untried pursuit. Their agent recommends that the ration issue, except to the indigent and helpless, be gradually discontinued, and the money now used for rations be devoted to the payment of Indian labor.

The international treaty, governing seal-hunting on the North Pacific and Bering Sea, has worked great hardship to Indians at Neah Bay agency. Washington. These Indians cannot agree upon a bead man or chief, and consequently are divided among themselves.

Considerable opposition to the work of the commission in preparing lands on the Puyallup Reservation in Washington for sale, has been shown by a majority of these Indians, but the faction is evidently influenced by having all restrictions removed. Progress made at Tuialip agency, Washington, indicates that within a few years these Indians will become self-supporting and independent of government aid.

Some definite action is urged upon the as long as the government gives them

PENDING THIRTY YEARS.

Final Settlement of a War Department Claim.

C. P. Patterson of Pomona received notice from Washington a few days since informing him the War Department had allowed a claim presented by him more than thirty years ago. The long time during which the claim was kept pending shows the delay which may sometimes result from the red-tape methods of that

In April, 1864, Mr. Patterson was lieu tenant and adjutant in the Ninth New York Heavy Artillery and the ordnance ammunition and military stores in one of ammunition and military stores in one of the forts in the defenses of Washington were temporarily placed in his custody. A few days later the custody of the prop-erty was turned over to another, but it was nearly a year after that time before a settlement of the matter could be arrived at. When making such settlement Mr. Patterson asserted that a balance of $24.03 correspend due him, which assertion was remained due him, which assertion was denied by the officer with whom he was

A claim for the balance, alleged to be due was presented to the War Department and, after about five years consumed in its investigation, it was disallowed. The demand was presented in another form and four or five times it went through the lengthy course of investigation by the department without being granted. It was pressed again and again until, after a delay of thirty years and three months, perseverance was reagain until, after a desagrance was re-and three months, perseverance was re-warded with success and a few days ago warded with success and a few days ago improvement of parks and schools and for other purposes will have to be begun over again, there is a good deal of talk in favor again, there is a good deal of talk in favor of including among the other propositions some provision for the building of a new city jail. The condition of the present jail continues to grow worse, and, with the large number of prisoners, is simply frightful. All the sewage from more than one hundred people has to pass through a five-inch pipe connection, which, by reason of being over-crowded, often becomes stopped up.

one hundred people has to pass through a five-inch pipe connection, which, by reason of being over-crowded, often becomes stopped up.

If no new jail be built until it can be done from the proceeds of the sale of the building now in use there will be likely to be a long delay, during which there is constant danger of the break out of some terrible malady as a result of the confining of so many prisoners in what may, without exaggeration, be called the "Black hole of Calcutta."

If bonds could be voted for the erection of a new jail the proceeds of the sale of the old one, it is believed, could be used to pay off the bonds. There would, therefore, probably be little loss of money from so doing, and the erection of a new jail would be much hastened.

EVANGELIST PRATT.

GREAT INTEREST IN HIS MEET-INGS AT POMONA.

All Christmas Exercises are Aban-doned by the Churches that the Revival Might not be Interfered With.

POMONA. Dec. 26.-(Special Correspondence.) There has never been such a general and spontaneous awakening of any community, in this region at least, to religious thought and work as in Pomona at this time. Evangelist S. Hartwell Pratt has, in co-operation with the pastors and officers of the Congregational, Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist and 'Christian churches, roused the people of this place in a revival to a degree that is astonishing. The religious revival, the Bible readings. The religious revival, the Bible readings, the evening meetings and the many prayer-meetings for the general and alprayer-meetings for the general and almost exclusive topics of conversation among all people in Pomona Valley. In order to have nothing interfere with the religious meetings the Sunday-schools and churches here have abandoned all Christmas-tree exercises and holiday festivities, and in many homes in this valley there is, for like reason, no general observance of Christmas this year. The evening meetings at the Methodist Episcopal Church are attended by audiences that pack the building, and every evening many people turn away at the door because they can find no room even to stand within. The afternoon Bible readings at the Congregational and Baptist churches are attended by throngs of people. All the Sunday meetings attract surprisingly large audiences, and the interest in them increases from day to day.

"I am amaged at the religious fervor and tract surprisingly large audiences, and the interest in them increases from day to day.

"I am amazed at the religious fervor and the intensity of public feeling in man's salvation that I have found in Pomona." said the evangelist, Rev. Mr. Pratt, yesterday. The number of persons, particularly, youngmen, who have asked for prayer and declared themselves converted to christianity, is a great surprise. New conversions are reponded every night. Rev. Mr. Pratt's sermons are the most eloquent and convincing ever heard in Pomona. He has a remarkable gift of pathos, and it is common to see an audience of 800 and 900 in tears at his pathetic utterances. The meetings will be continued indefinitely. There are very many people who urge that they go on for several weeks more.

PATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY IN CHINATOWN.

Heathen Shot by One of His Own Countrymen During a Heated Quarrel Over Money Matters.

A fatal fight occurred upstairs at No. 321½ Marchessault street, in Chinatown, last evening, and as a result Quong Sing Kee was shot in the abdomen, from the effects of which he died in the Receiving Hospital at 8:45 o'clock, and his mur-derer, Lucy Lem, is in a cell at the City Prison. The bullet entered the body

Hospital at 8:45 o'clock, and his murderer, Luey Lem, is in a cell at the City Prison. The builet entered the body at the right of the navel and lodged at the top of the right hip bone. The cause of the row is variously given by the swarms of excited Chinamen that crowded Marchessault street and visited the police station, but the story of Ging Quong, the only eye-witness to the tragedy, seems to be about the straightest of any.

Ging Quong, was found after a juorney through crooked, ill-smelling hallways and up narrow, slippery stairs. He was in the room where the shooting took place, and pointed out the different spots where the struggle took place. He said Quong Sing Kee was sitting on a table, and Luey Lem was sitting on his bed. They were engaged in a loud quarrel as to the payment of certain money Quong owed Luey. Luey, is seems, is a highbinder, and in times past has done a little work as hatchet-man for Quong, and incidentally aided him in securing for himself a woman, whose name in classical Chinese means "A beautiful flower." On that account Quong had been keeping Luey for some time, and about two or three weeks ago, the latter left his place in Pasadena to come over here.

Yesterday he wanted some money to spend, and it was while in a violent dispute with Quong that he sprang from his seat and fired his 38-caliber bullet into Quong's stomach. Ging says he had his eyes down looking at the table on which he was chopping some meat, but at the shot he sprang grom him. The wounded man and another Chinaman also sprang upon the murderous heathen, and they were struggling for the pistol when Omicer Harris rushed through the crowd of chattering Chinamen at the door and placed them under arrest.

Officer Harris heard the shot while passing down the street, and caught the highblider red-handed. The wounded man before his death told, through an interpreter, the story of the quarrel and shooting.

The interpreter stated his true name to be Luey Chung of the Kwong Sing Kee

THE closing out of all the odds and ends after the big Christmas trade will be the order of the day for the balance of the week. What a trade. The largest we have had for over four years. There is nothing that has equaled it from the palmiest days of the big boom. Now that the rush and anxiety is over we get down to every day sort of business and begin the weeding out process preparatory for the biggest year we have ever had. 1895 will be that year. The timely rains; the good prices for all products; the eastern markets and factories in shape and many of them working up to their fullest capacity; the enormous amount of building in our own city; the big crowds that are flowing into the city from the east; and last but not least the Fiests will be here in April to draw with it fifty thousand strangers. The Fiesta will be a hummer this year. We begin to feel a little enthusiastic before the dawn of the new year. We instill this into and make it a part of the business. grow in enthusiasm over the prospects for the big trade of the coming year. The second day of January the store will open up on a complete transformation of the interior. In the meantime we will offer grand bargains to close out all the accumulations of the Christmas trade. We are offering the greatest bargains in dress goods and cloaks. We have quite a line of extra desirable goods at a great reduction to make them move quickly. Soon the new spring goods will be coming in. These goods must be out of the way. Dress goods will be cheaper in the spring. We reduce the prices now to conform to the new idea. New shades in velvets will be shown today. We are offering special values in the cloak department to close every garment. We are intending to put in a full line of suits in the spring. We want to close every garment to start with a complete new line. Prices are now being made that are lower for the same class of goods than they have ever been sold for. Marvelous Performance of the Peerless Alix.

The Queen of Trotters Goes a Mile in Phenomenal Time at Agri-cultural Park.

All Track Records West of the Rockies Completely Eclipsed—Directly's Remarkable Mile. Free-for-all Trot.

Not over fifteen hundred people wit-nessed the second day's exhibition racing at the Agricultural Park yesterday after-noon, the weather being so cold, cloudy and indicative of rain as to keep thouds, who would otherwise have attended slight shower about 2 o'clock, there was cause for discouragement on the of the projectors of the races, for part of the projectors of the races, for the track was at least two seconds slow, the expenses were heavy and the receipts light.

Taking the unfavorable conditions into account, however, the sport provided was excellent throughout, and those present witnessed two performances which have never been excelled. These were the establishment of a new harness record for the Coast by the peerless queen of trotters, Alix, who made the circuit in the marvelous time of 2;05%, and the equality remarkable mile paced by the two-year-old cost, Directly, who encompassed the distance in 2:08 flat.

Heretofors the Coast track records were the 2:07 paced by Silkwood at Santa Ana, and the 2:11% trotted by McKinney at Stockton, hence it will be seen that, while alix failed to beat her own record of 2:03%, ahe completely eclipsed any previous record west of the Rocky Mountains.

Considering the fact that the track was alow and cut up, the weather cold and dismal, and the time of day, 5 p.m., Directly's performance was even more remarkable than that of the trotting queen, and will long be remembered by these who saw it.

It was fully 2 o'clock before the day's like will rough the start along that delaying the start a large crowd would be attracted. It failed to have the desired effect, however, and occasioned considerable grumbling on the part of those who went out early. THE FREE-FOR-ALL TROT.

The first event on the programme was free-for-all trot with the following starters: Monroe Salisbury's b. g. Azote, 2.0814; C. J. Hamlin's ch. m. Nightingale, 2.1094, and Tom Raymond's b. h. Klamath, 2.13. It proved to be much more inter-esting than many had believed possible, for the local horse held his own admirably with his speedy opponents, and after win-ning two heats of the five, just lost the fifth and the race by a narrow margin after as pretty a finish as has ever been Klamath had the pole, and at once went to the front at the turn, with Azote close up and Nightingale on the outside a couple of lengths behind. At the quarter, which was reached in 33% seconds, Klamath was still in the lead, but Azote was at his wheel, and soon got on even terms with him. As they traveled along the stretch Azote drew away from the Santa Ana horse, and at the half was a good open length ahead. Raymond let Klamath out a peg or two at the turn, however, and rapidly closed the gap between himself and the big son of Whips. On entering the stretch Klamath came with a rush, and traversing the last quarter in 31 seconds, just beat Azote out by aneck in 2:12%. Nightingale finished half a dozen lengths behind.

He broke badly at the first rn, however, and Klamath shot to the out and was two lengths ahead at the that and was two lengths ahead at the ter. The time was a fraction slower that of the previous heat, but Azote e up for it by traveling along the extretch at a 2:07 gait. The result was he soon overhauled and passed the a Ana wonder. Third heat—The horses were sent off at the second attempt with Azote at least half a length in the lead, and he very soon increased this advantage to an open length, which he maintained to the quarter. As before, he drew away from his opponents on the back-stretch, and at the half was fully four lengths shead of Klamath, while Nightingale trailed them about the same distance, in the rear. On the turn Klamath commenced to move up very fast, and was close up to the leader as they entered the strentch. McDowell crowded Azote and shook Klamath off at the seven-eighth pole, but the strain was too much, and the leader broke badly at the draw gate. The result was that Klamath came with a terrific burst of speed and won the heat by half a length in 2:124.

Fourth heat—After scoring but once the trio was sent on its journey with Azote again in the lead. Klamath, who was not quite a length behind, held his own to the quarier post, but, as before. McDowell let Azote out on the backstretch and the Pleasanton gelding shot away from his opponents, reaching the half in 1.05 flat, with six open lengths between himself and Nightingale, who was a neck in front of Klamath. The pair closed up the gap between themselves and the leader considerably on the turn, but in spite of all his efforts Klamath, after shaking the mare off, was unable to catch Azote, who won easily with four lengths to spare in 2.00%.

Fifth heat—Azote again had the best of it when the trio received the word after scoring a couple of times, and at the quarter was an open length in the lead. He increased this on the back stretch to three lengths at the half, which distance was traversed in 1.064, On the turn Klamath went after him, however, and the gap was gradually diminished until they catered the strentch almost on even terms. Flying Jib was billed to pace against his own time of 1.58¼, at Chillecethe, O., on October 4 last, but Mr. Salisbury befug dissatisfied with the defeat he sustained on Christmas day insisted that the team should go against Emil Ulbricht, the local cyclist, instead of against time. The team came out on the track, hitched to one of the new neumatic waron, at 429 o'clock. came out on the track, hitched to one of the new pneumatic wagon, at 4:20 o'clock, and Ulbricht and his pacemaker, a runner, hitched to a sulky, with windbreak, at once went down for the start. It happened to be an off day for Flying Jib, however, and he refused to pace for the benfit of the crowd or any one cise. After McDowell had tried in vain to get the fastest gelding in the world down to his gait by driving him a couple of miles, Mr. Salisbury himself took the lines, but without any better success. The result was that the race was declared off.

In order not to disappoint the crowd. W. Salisbury sent his famous two-yearold champion, Directly, against his rec-old champion, Directly, against his record of 2:07%.

It was 4:50 o'clock before the little black horse came out with his running mate, but apparently he needed very little warming up, for five minutes later he was making the trial of his life. Immediately upon hearing McDowell's famous "Directly" yell, the little black colt went away like the wind to the quarter in 0:32%. As he moved along the backstretch, like a piece of mechanism, few of those who watched him had any idea of the speed at which he was skimming over the track. When he reached the half in 1:04, local horsemen thought the pace too hot to last, but with his running mate at his wheel, he swung round to the three-quarters in 1:36%, and after a grandstand finish McDowell fairly listed the colt under the wire in 2:08.

In the Police Court yesterday it was developed that there were three men concerned in the John Allen hold-up Christmas night, but only two, George Gaskill and John King, were captured.

Allen was proceeding along San Pedro street when the three men approached him, jumped on him and beat him. They told him to throw up his hands, but as he did so a man came along and the fellows ran. Luther Davis and Addison Johnson saw the hold-up, and followed the footpads until they went into a drug store. Davis watched the entrance, while Johnson went after Officer Walker. Officer Walker went back with Johnson and gathered in two of the men. The other disappeared. The two will be tried today.

Result of Christmas Hilarity.

Justice Seaman disposed of the largest docket of the season yesterday, and when the day was done, the court officials sighed deeply and mopped their perspiring faces. There were seventy-five cases altogether, and Bailiff Appel had to herd the prisoners in, in several droves.

Forty-four vagrants, mostly beggars, sixteen drunks, and two petty larceny cases were on the list, besides a couple of attempts to murder and some robbery cases. The drunks were most of them the result of Christmas hilarity, and His Honor released allthose who were not vicious or depraved.

Joseph Clifford, a Pomona vagrant, and Ed Kelly, another, were sent up to serve twenty days in the County Jail.

Pomona sent Frank Trodden to serve five days for petty larceny, and James Lynch for ten days for vagrancy.

Mr. Freeman announced that the meeting had been called for nominations to flithe following offices: President, first vice-president, second vice-president, treasurer, chairman Committee on Commerce, chairman Committee on Manufactures, chairman Committee on Immigration, chairman Committee on Indiana Committee on Manufactures, chairman Committee on Lands, chairman Committee on Way and Means, chairman Committee on Statistics, chairman Committee on Laws, chairman Committee on Parks.

He said that in accordance with the custom that has always prevailed in the chamber a committee had been appointed to make nominations to be presented to this meeting, and he called upon Mr. Elliott to make the report.

Mr. Elliott stated that since the committee had met several changes had been necessary in the report as originally prepared, owing to the fact that some of the gentlemen who had been nominated were unable to serve, and others preferred to serve on different committees than those on which they had been originally placed. He would therefore tender an informal report which it had not been practicable to have ratified by the whole committee as some of the changes had only just been made. He then read the report, which was as follows:

It was then moved and carried that the report be adopted as a whole.

President Freeman called attention to the fact that the adoption of the report did not close nominations, but that any nomination could be made by any member of the chamber up to within five days of the election by simply posting a notice in the secretary's office. He then asked for other nominations, but none were offered.

President Freeman gave notice that the election would take place Janury 9, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. He also announced that the five remaining members of the board constituting the Stockholders Committee would be elected by the stockholders on some date between this and the election.

his name, or fercely emphatic in a desire for his blood.

The perjury charge is a simple matter filed in Justice Austin's court, and sworn to by E. P. Carnicle, but that is not the only complaint against Brown. The rest are smoldering. Carnicle is of the firm of Strange & Carnicle, architects and draughtsmen, and he alleges that Brown swore, while acting as a witness in Justice Bartholomew's court in the case of Strange & Carnicle vs. J. A. Brown, that he was not present and did not see a set of blue prints of a set of plans for some buildings to be erected in Agricultural Park, and that he never requested the same to be delivered, when in truth and fact the said Brown well knew he was present and saw the prints and requested them to be delivered to Louis Bernard. Therefore, Brown is alleged to be a wilful, false and felonious perjurer.

CHINESE SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

Interesting Exercises at the First Presbyterian Church.

The First Presbyterian Church.

The First Presbyterian Church was crowded with an interested audience yesterday afternoon, during the Christmas exercises of the Chinese Sunday-school, which is connected with the church. This school was started five years ago, in the Chinese quarter of the city, with five scholars. There are now eleven members under the charge of Miss Reynoids. The school reflects great credit on those in charge. Of course it is necessarily slow work to educate these children, as there is some handleap in almost every direction. Their home surroundings are not helpful, and their religious education has, of course, been neglected. But they are remarkably bright, and anxious to learn, which, after all, is half the battle. The work done by them yesterday fully demonstrates that they should not be neglected. Several of the Chinese mothers were in the audience, and they seemed highly pleased with the performance. The children, eleven in number, were seated on the platorm for the most narrayed strates that they should not be neglected. Several of the Chinese mothers were in the audience, and they seemed highly pleased with the performance. The children, eleven in number, were seated on the platform, for the most part arrayed very gorgeously in their native costume. Although the programme was a long one, they sat quietly and were attentive, their behavior being, on the whole, a lesson which it would not harm a good many American children to learn. True one or two seemed inclined to twist themselves: into knots toward the end of the performance, but the presence of an immense Christmas tree behind them probably accounted for this.

The songs and recitations were excellent. Most of the scholars speak very good English, and with more expression than is usual in such cases. Taking them altogether, they are as bright and happylooking a lot of young people as is ever seen.

The church had been beautifully decorated for the occasion. A long rope of smilax stretched from gallery to gallery, and three large enowy bells, twined with the same green strings, hung over the pulpit. Holly berries and cut flowers added brightness, and the large Christmas tree, with its glistening ornaments, made a conspicuous center piece. Mr. Wadsworth presided, and the programme for the afternoon was as follows:

CHINESE MISSION EXERCISES. Last evening at the Chinese Methodist Episcopal Mission, No. 337½ Apablassa street, a very interesting Christmas pro-gramme was rendered. The kindergarten children, in charge of Miss Reynolds, were present, and gave several songs and reci-tations, which were much enjoyed by tations, which were much enjoyed by those present.

Bible readings were given by some members of the school, and addresses were made by Rev. N. G. Chew, of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Fung Hay of Ventura, and Rev. G. L. Cole of Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church. The Chinese young men of the school sang two selections in Chinese, and a Chinese orchestra rendered some very pleasing-Chinese music. The programme was under the direction of J. F. Davis, superintendent of the Chinese Sabbath-school, and Miss E. Graham, superintendent of the day school. About two hundred were present.

MORE VIEWS ON THE RAILROAD QUESTION.

Progress of the Tournament of Boses Supervisors Looking Over the Altadena Road-Briefs and Personals.

PASADENA, Dec. 26. — (Special Correspondence.) The railroad subject is one of absorbing interest to citizens, and as the day approaches when the Council is expected to act decisively on the granting of the franchise which has been advertised for sale, the friends of Pasadena who favor the proposed enterprise as a desired acquisition to this city, are alert and sanguine. The opposition to the project, nine. The opposition to the project, h was at first reinforced by sentimen-ympathy, is being reduced to a busi-basis. Some of the principal prop-ness basis. Some of the principal property-owners see in the completion of the road a chance to sell their Broadway lots for suitable purposes, the prospect of their becoming valuable as residence sites having long ago passed out of probability. James Clark, who lives on Marengo avenue, and has property interests on both sides of Broadway, was asked today for his opinion on the Southern Pacific Railroad franchise matter. "I think the road ought to be allowed to come up Broadway," said be; "there is no other place where a railroad can come into Pasadena with so little damage. The property won't be damaged near as much as is claimed. I have property on both sides of the street. I never had any objection on account of what I have on the east side. If the railroad company wants my lots it can have them by paying for them. As a stock-holder of the Pasadena Manufacturing Company I objected to having a railroad to run the Broadway line at least sixty feet away from the factory I could not on each side, but when it was proposed to run the Broadway line at least sixty feet away from the factory I could not see any reason for opposing it. We need the road, and ought to have it. It will make a market for a good deal of Broadway property that never would sell in any other way. It is my opinion that if the Council grants the franchise next Monday, the first thing the railroad company will do will be to settle with property-owners. The company don't want to be delayed by litigation, and the heet thing for all parties will be to grant the franchise."

Ed Lockett of the Blinn Lumber Company, who from the first has been an advocate of the railroad, says that the fear that the railroad will go across Colcrado street, if given the desired franchise up Broadway, is unfounded. "When the subject first came up," said he, "the company intended only to run only a spurtrack to Colorado street. The Blinn Lumber Company suggested that it would be well to run the track over to the yards of the company but that idea is given up. The Blinn company will find it cheaper to move the yards to some points further south than to get the tracks to the present location."

Bad blood has been brewing for some time between Mrs. E. C. J. G. Rossiter represented the prosecution, and Mrs. Gilson and her husband attended to the defense, with the result noted. At the conclusion of the case Mrs. Gilson made a motion for a new trial.

On reaching the middle of the street Thomson turned to say good-night to his friend, but falled to observe the approach of a Valencia-street cable ear. He was knocked down by the car, and when picked up was unconscious. At the Receiving Hospital the injuries were found to be a severe concussion of the brain, a scalp wound and three fingers lacerated. The sufferer recovered partial consciousness, but he was unable to tell where he lives. He was the most concerned about his family net getting the Christmas presents he had purchased for them. SANTA ANA, Dec. 26.—(Special Correspondence.) The residence of S. C. Wright of this city was burgiarized near the hour of 4 o'clock this (Wédnesday) afternoon by a fellow who looked very much like a tramp. Eli Trago, the driver afternoon by a fellow who looked very much like a tramp. Ell Trago, the driver of the Wells-Fargo Express wagon, was driving past Mr. Wright's house when he noticed a stranger jump out of a back window and run out of the yard. He called to the fellow to stop and almost instantly the thief drew a pistol and pointed it at Mr. Trago, but did not shoot. Trago came to town and notified the officers, who proceeded at once to give chase. Officer Morgan and Marshal Curtice hurried to the scene and started on the trail of the thief, who had started toward Tustin. About one and one-half miles south of the city, near the residence of John Cubban, the officers came upon the fellow, who by this time was joined by a confederate, and, to the officers surprise, the tramps called upon them to hold up their hands, at the same time leveling a big pistol at Mr. Morgan, who, seeing that they meant business drew his gun and gave a counter command to "throw up." This they refused to do, and were in the act of pulling the trigger when Mr. Morgan fired the ball, striking the tramp, and felling him to the ground like a beef. The other tramp then surrendered and the two of them were brought back to the city. The one that was shot will probably die. Both the tramps are hard-looking fellows, and are, no doubt, hardened criminals who have been traveling over the country as tramps.

LATER.—Word has just been received that the tramp had entered the house met A. C. Stine, a rancher of Tustin. and took from him a Winchester rifle, and it was this ugly weapon that he pulled on Officer Morgan as he called on the officer of "hold up" his hands. But Morgan was too quick for him, and got the drop on him, sending a ball through the tramp's breast. The tramp is dead. He had his pockets full of silverware and other articles that he had stolen from Mr. Wright's residence.

WILL REPAIR THE RIVER BANKS. WILL REPAÍR THE RIVER BANKS. The Board of Supervisors met informally today and went cut to examine the banks of the Santa Ana River, west of the city, where a small break or two occurred during the recent heavy rains. After a thorough investigation of the premises it was informally decided that the breaks should be repaired at the earliest possible convenience of the board, and the effort to confine the water within the banks continued. Last year the county expended $1500 on the banks of the river with a view of confining the water in a well-defined channel, and as a portion of this work was washed out during the first heavy rains of the season, a great deal of interest therefore centers in the matter. His imitative faculty is remarkable, and his selections elicited a great deal of applause from the enthusiastic auditence. He was several times encored and was obliged to respond. ANOTHER RUNAWAY.

Carl Kerr, who works for Moore & Son on West Fourth street, had a runaway Tuesday night about 12 o'clock that was interesting, at least for him, for a time. He was driving a spirited double team interesting, at least for him, for a time. He was driving a spirited double team from Waffie & West's stables and just after passing over the Santiago Creek bridge on North Main street on his way into the city, alone, the tongue in some manner broke in two. This frightened the team and they proceeded to indulge in a first-class runaway. They soon became disengaged from the carriage and then they tore loose from Mr. Kerr who, up to this time had been holding on like grim death. The horses ran on into the city and around to the stable, but as the doors were closed, they started out again, this time taking in the direction of the Maybury tract, northwest of the city. They were found early this morning out in the Santa Ana River bed about three miles from the city, one of them lying down tangled up in some barbed wire and the other standing directly over him. The neck yoke and lines still held them both together. One of the animals was pretty badly cut up by the wire, but the other one was not injured more than from the stiffness that would naturally result from such a long and violent run. The carriage was not seriously damaged.

REV. MR. JOHNSTON'S CHRIST-MAS LECTURE.

An Interesting Sketch of the Festival, its Origin and Growth Marriage Licenses Notes and Personals.

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 26.—(Special Correspondence.) Rev. H. Digby John-ston's Christmas lecture was upon the 'Origin and History of Christmas." He said that the word, from Christ mass, was "Origin and History of Christmas." He said that the word, from Christmass, was not the original name of this festival, as the celebration is much more ancient than the event for which it is held to celebrate. Before the birth of Christ it was a pagan festival in Rome for the god Saturn, and in northern Germany for the god Thor, in the former called the Saturnalia and in the latter the Yule-tide. Originally hasting in Rome from December 17 to 25, it became one long season of excesses and debauches, until the Emperor, for the safety of the State, gradually reduced the festival to the one day, the 25th. Upon this, the greatest festival, patricians, ple-blans, slaves and their owners, were given equal rank for the day. The giving of presents, chiefly tapers and dolls, was a great feature of the day in Rome, while in Germany the day was given over to feasting and damcing. The origin of its incorporation into the Christmas observances is probably due to a protest against the origies of the pagans, for it was known that Jesus was not born on this day. It began in Paul's hired house, but not until the time of Constantine did it become known as Christ-mas. All our Christmas usages, save the references to Jesus and information in regard to the matter had been learned.

willide of an Unknown Man Near Montalvo.

VENTURA, Dec. 26.—(Special Correspondence.) Another poor unfortunate's remains are at the city morgue awaiting identification, having been brought in late Christmas night. While on his way home, young Stewart of Montalvo saw a man lying near the Southers Bear of Souther lying near the Southern Pacific Railroad track, about two miles this side of Mon-talvo, and on investigating found his throat cut from ear to ear and a bloody pocket knife, with the small blade open, near by. Stowart went on to Montalvo and gave the alarm. The Coroner was nonear by. Stewart went on to Montalvo and gave the alarm. The Coroner was notified, and about 8 o'clock in the evening the body was brought to this city and placed in the undertaking-rooms of Reilly Bros. The deceased is about 50 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height, and weighs about one hundred and fifty pounds; has gray eyes; a heavy sandy mustache mixed with gray, rather short black hair, also streaked with gray. He has not the appearance of one who dissipated. When found he had on a pair of blue flanned drawers, a red flannel undershirt, a lacedfront flannel overshirt, two pairs of overalls and congress shoes; two coats, but no vest; his hat is missing, but, as there was a strong wind blowing yesterday, it probably blew away.

There is nothing whatever by which to identify him, as his possessions consisted only of the bloody knife, a plece of cloth, evidently used as a handkerchief, a few matches and a small memorandum book, issued by Godwin & Avery, Fleming Block, Phoenix, Ariz., upon the first page of which is written "B. H. Wright, Cornman Post, No. 57, G.A.R., San Bernardino." On another page is the following entry:

VENTURA'S FAIR NAME.

The faculty of seeing things as they are not, and giving their limited number of readers the benefit of their marvelous perception is taking quite a strong hold on the editors of the two papers that are attempting to fill a long-felt want in this city. Of course, if the subscribers are satisfied with that kind of news, no one else has any complaint, but when, in stating things as they see them, they so far forget themselves as to make false statements regarding correspondence appearing in reputable journals it is time that they were brought up with a round turn. The little Venturian, and the Populistic sheet, the People's Advocate, are walking all over themselves in attempting to "uphold the fair name of Ventura and her citizens," and "distorted news" sent out by the Times Ventura correspondent, and in grandiloquent terms state that The Times said the City Council was bribed in the electric-light controversy which was agitating this community some three weeks ago. Now, as a matter of fact. The Times said nothing of the kind, nor did it even intimate that the gentlemen comprising the board were bribed to do the bidding of the Santa Ans Water Company. What it did say, and truthully, too, was that, with the exception of Trustee Sudden, the entire board fell down, and accepted Mr. Chrisman's proposition to light the city at his own figures, and, so quickly did they do it, that, in their haste, they neglected to resolud the ironation of the meeting of least than a month before, in which they emphatically declared that they would pay so much for lights ($120 per month,) and not emother cent more. The resolution still stands uncanceled on the minutes. If the plain, unvarnished truth is going to "injure the fair name of Ventura or her citizens," it will have to injure.

But Alva Johnson's testimony, which was thought to be the mainstay of the prosecution, was given contrary to expectation, and on it the prisoner was released. He testified that he knew Smith to be a good, quiet man, and denied that the man had anything to do with the Roscoe robberies. Johnson again insisted that he and Thompson had done the robberies unaided. He denied telling Dist.-Atty. Dillon or Detective Lawson that he had said a third man was connected with the robberies, but admitted having said that a third man helped to make the bombs.

After further questioning and testimony, Dist.-Atty. Dillon moved the dismissal of the case, and there being no evidence to convict him, His Honor ordered Smith discharged. But Alva Johnson's testimony, which the case, and there being no evidence to convict him, His Honor ordered Smith discharged.

The old man's friends were overjoyed at this second release from the charge of train-robbery, and were very demonstrative. Johnson, the self-convicted prisoner, was much pleased also. Dist.-Atty. Dillon expressed the opinion that Smith was in no wise implicated in the affair, before he made the motion for dismissal.

Many express the opinion that the mysterious third party has fled the country and is down in Mexico, but a few detectives are of the opinion that the one who made the masks and helped make the bombs is right in this country, and she has taken the liveliest interest in all the proceedings. It is alleged that it was to save her Johnson made his confession and that she was so overjoyed at Johnson's release for the simple reason that he was in her place in custody and an innocent man. But evidence is hard to get, and it is harder to make determined and unwilling prisoners talk.

musical entertainment was given on Christmas evening in the San Pedro Meth-odist Episcopal Sunday-school, S. A. Wid-ney, pastor, and J. T. Martin, superin-tendent. A pleasant and instructive literary and ney, pastor, and J. T. Martin, superintendent.

When the regular exercises were over the platform was taken in charge by Duncan Baxter, in the character of Neptune. He was accompanied by twenty Sunday-school pupils in sailor costume. They represented the crews of the two vessels City of San Pedro and the Nautilus.

The scene opens with the City of San Pedro crossing the equatorial line. Suddenly the man on the lookout reports "Vessel on the larboard bow." After the usual interchange of greetings the vessel spoken heaves to and proves to be the Nautilus, Neptune, captain.

The latter, with his crew, board the San Pedro and, in true sailor fashion, take possession of her while "crossing the line." Then followed those grotesque sailor privileges of lathering the face with dope, shaving with a wooden rasor about a foot long, dumping the victims overboard and other similar pranks, the whole making a novel and interesting display.

The next scene reveals the Nautilus as a full-rigged ship laden with toys for the Sunday-school children. The vessel salls toward the platform, and as she nears her destination the twenty sallor lads on board, while hoisting the sky-sail, sing in unison the quaint old song or "Shanty" as it is termed, "Jack's 'Away to Hilo." The song was beautifully rendered, and the scene depicted elicited the greatest enthusiasm.

The vessel is then sailed right on to the platform, and after having been made fast to the wharf, the presents were unloaded and distributed among the children.

The verdict in respect to the entertainment was unanimous, viz.: that it was the best ever seen or known in the history of the town. The church was packed, not even was standing room left. Besides that it is estimated that over three hundred persons had to be turned away unable to get in. The interior of the building was handsomely decorated.
